ESTIMATING THE COST

How much will your vacation cost this summer?

If you're going by automobile, a set of answers to that question has been figured out in Washington by the American Automobile Association.

If you should be able to vacation on the highways for $25 a day, the AAA thinks. Then it gets a bit. It all depends on what kind of car you pilot, and how many miles you consider "a good day's drive."

The AAA had to compute the average price of a gallon of gasoline and the average number of miles you'll probably get out of that gallon. It decided the typical gallon will cost 26½ cents. Then it labeled the modern auto industry by basing the figures on only 14½ miles per gallon.

Anyway, on that basis the AAA decided the vacationer's car would use 1.99 cents worth of gas and oil every mile. Add seven tenths of a cent per mile for maintenance and three-fifths of a cent per mile for wear on the tires. Allowing a fiftieth of the year's license, insurance, and depreciation costs for each week, the AAA came up with 3.5 cents a mile as your probable cost of driving. You won't necessarily have to spend it all during the actual trip, though.

That means you can drive a thousand miles for $35, or 300 miles in a day for about $10. That's the official "day's drive"—300 miles.

Assuming that you'll get hungry as often as your car gets thirsty, the AAA throws $3 a day per person into the budget for food. That's $6 for two.

Rooms for the night vary widely in price, but the AAA figures they'll average $7 a night for two.

Now you've gotten rid of $24.50 out of that $25 a day. Toll bridge and toll roads, tips, souvenirs, post cards, and just plain odds and ends will compete ferociously for the remaining half dollar.

Bon voyage!

SAUCER ITEM

News from the saucer front in the early days of the 1952 season has been somewhat scarce, with only one item from Texas recorded, but it is likely to become more plentiful. Comes now an item from Minnesota.

J. J. Kaliszewski, General Mills supervisor of balloon manufacture in Minneapolis, saw objects of "undetermined origin and terrific speed" while making airplane flights in October, 1951. Charles B. Moore, Jr., an aeronautical engineer in charge of balloon operations for General Mills, also has seen "the objects," and other personnel working for his company has seen the apparitions at least 20 times, he said. The company is working on amended forces contracts.

What to do? Kaliszewski thinks the government should set up an official 24-hour watch to identify the strange sky riders.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. Apr. 23 — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's polite but firm refusal to seek the Democratic presidential nomination left party machine politicians in this state hanging on the ropes.

Jacob M. Arvey, Democratic boss and close advisor to Governor Stevenson, made the understatement of the week when he said the governor's decision made him "very unhappy."

The truth is that Stevenson admitted what Arvey and other Democrats have known for a long time, but consistently refused to confess: that the Democratic party organization in this and other states is coming apart at the seams.

Naturally, Arvey and the other machine bosses, blame the White House for the impending disaster. They can't find anyone willing to run on Mr. Truman's record who is acceptable to their brand of political manipulation. Normally the powerful political bosses have to keep brushing prospective candidates off their backs. But this year things are different.

Not only that, but even W. Averell Harriman, the weary errand boy for both new deal and fair deal administrations, has been trotted out as the political burnt offering of boss Ed Flynn and his New York political cronies.

In public speeches, Harriman has difficulty making himself coherent, despite a flock of high priced ghost writers. The mere mention of his name gives Arvey the political shudders.

In fact, hardly a Democratic boss west of the Bronx can stand the thought of Harriman heading the party ticket. He is willing, however, and is the darling of the same Democrats who tried to make a president out of Henry Wallace, the 1948 stooge of the communist party.

California Democrats have yet to be heard from but party bosses here are not awaiting the western word with much optimism. The way things are going, Democrats here would not be surprised if Ed Pauley is reduced to pleading California to James Roosevelt, who will run for any office any time.

In New Jersey, the political boss of the Democrats, Archibald Alexander, is making a brave try at ignoring Senator Estes Kefauver while he scans the horizon for another candidate. He would have liked a small piece of Gov. Stevenson, but he is now in mourning along with Jake Arvey and probably won't be heard from for a fortnight.

Kefauver, of course, has all of the political bosses looking over their shoulders. So far none have displayed any affection for him, but if one ever does, all the rest will fall in line so as not to miss out on any of the political gravy. It is unlikely, however, that Arvey or any of the other Illinois Democrats will be the first to break ranks and climb aboard the Kefauver band wagon. They consider the Tennessee senator some kind of a political freak who won't go away. They may have to lower their sights, nevertheless, since Stevenson

Editor, Bristol Courier:
It was with a sad heart and mingled thoughts, when this last week I learned of the passing of Dr. H. Doyle Webb, your friend and mine. We knew that the good Lord above has said unto him when He beckoned, "Well done, good and faithful servant." He will be missed by many for his comradeship and keen sense of understanding, as a doctor and friend. A man is known by his good deeds, the help he renders, his fellow-man—"Doc" will never be forgotten. My fond hope and prayer is this, that when the Lord calls me that, he, with the rest of my loved ones will be there to greet me. We loved him very much. May God grant him eternal peace.

Child Who Cries When Angry

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

ANGER at the right time is useful to a person. If he couldn't get angry he would be a jellyfish physically and morally. Without some anger, how could we hope for social justice? Even the mild-mannered person that ever walked upon this earth and taught us "to turn the other cheek," angrily drove money changers from the Temple for defiling it.

But as everyone knows, most of our angers, especially the explosive ones, are harmful to us. They render us less likable, less efficient, less useful.

The other day I was talking with a group of third and fourth grade pupils about this matter, when a few questions led them to say they lose friends when they "get awfully mad." From them came many picturesque descriptions of how they act when very angry. One child, a boy, said he sometimes cried. Instead of laughing at him, the other children looked, nodded or shouted, "yes, I do, too, sometimes."

Hard to Stop Crying

Soon these children seriously agreed that when they cried during rage, other children laughed at them and called them cry-babies; that this response by the other children made the angry child who cried more angry; that the shame he felt then mixed with his anger made it hard for him to stop crying.

From our memories and observations you and I know what a terrific problem this is for the child, especially the boy, and that the older he is, the more prodigious is the problem. Let me add here that over a period of years I have talked with hundreds of groups of grade school children on this matter in various parts of the nation. In every group I found the children responding about as they did in the group I just described. Always they were deeply, seriously interested, and always they were eager to know what they could do about it.

When They Can't Hide

Any such group of children can be led to see how important it is not to let other children see them cry when they cry in rage. They talk of running to another room or hiding behind something till their tears dry up. When asked what they might do when out on the playground where they are not easy to hide and when their leaving the group suddenly might attract undue attention, they seem puzzled. But when I suggest that a good way is to drop down, pretending to be tying one's shoes, keeping at it long enough to get under self-control, the youngsters smile or shout expressions of relief. They feel sure it would work. Many children who later have tried this way, have told me that it does work well.

Some years ago, while talking with a group of youngsters in Overton, Texas, a boy asked to know what he could do if he wore boots. I hemmed and hawed and rubbed my bald head trying to get an answer till another boy answered for me: "Pretend there's a pebble in your boot."

I wish many teachers would talk companionably with children on such subjects. And see what we parents might do when we and the child felt right toward each other. Children like such conversation when it does not carry blame or rebuke. ("My bulletins," "Tantrums," and "How To Control Your Temper," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

FOREIGN AID VS. WELFARE

The U. S. government would have to tax away 45 per cent of the people's incomes if it tried to pile onto its present operations, a welfare state comparable to those in European countries which rely on American aid. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in reporting that fact, says that no European country had such a high tax rate.

LEARN...and LIVE!

When your boy or girl is old enough to take the wheel of the family car, their chances of becoming a safe driver are three times better today than a few years ago—if they have had the opportunity of becoming a high school-trained driver.

Last year nearly 700,000 students—more than one out of every three eligibles—were enrolled in driver training courses given by 8,000 high schools. There is hope that in the not too distant future every boy and girl will receive driver education before taking the wheel.

How is it working? In one state, a check of 800 trained and 800 untrained drivers after a year's experience revealed that only 100 of the trained ones had run afoul of the law in accidents, violations and warnings. Of the 800 untrained, 769 had some kind of black mark against them. Other state reports confirm this progress through driver education.

Here lies one of the most encouraging answers toward reducing the tragic death and injury toll on our highways. If your community's schools give driver training courses be sure your children enroll before they attempt to drive. If not, find out why your schools do not participate in this vitally needed life-saving training. The cost of driver education to the community is small—the reward great.

Give your children the chance to—Learn and LIVE!

Pennsbury District

A fashion show, given by the Sub-Deb Club, will be presented Apr. 24 in Pennsbury high school auditorium. It will be presented to all girls from 9th to 12th grades during the regular club period.

The girls who will model are: Patricia Davis, Dolores McGee, Nancy Bixler, 12th grade; Audrey Harrop, Veronika Kreuger, 11th grade; Gay Warburton, Myrna Neeld, Joan Titus, 10th grade; Helen Pinelli, 9th grade.

The annual Pennsbury high school activities banquet, sponsored by the Pennsbury PTA, will be given May 27 in the cafeteria. This event honors the leading students of the high school.

Students who receive the highest number of activity points will be invited to the banquet. In addition to receiving points, a student must meet two other requirements. He must not in any way have brought discredit to himself or his school, and he must not have failed more than one subject at the close of the third marking period.

Points are awarded for participation in such activities as athletics, student council, band and chorus, yearbook, and newspaper. Points are also awarded for high scholastic records.

The annual Pennsbury music festival will be held May 2nd in Pennsbury high school auditorium at 8.15 p. m. The Pennsbury Chorus will also be guests of the Trenton Youth Symphony Concert, April 29, at the War Memorial Building, Trenton, N. J. The program will consist of the following selections: "Salutation," "O Lovely Heart," "All in the April Evening," "Stodala's Pumpa," "Ride the Carousel," and "One World."

The Bucks County Music Festival program will be repeated April 30 in the high school auditorium for the County School Board Directors at the request of Dr. Charles H. Boehm, county superintendent of schools.

Ten Pennsbury High students, accompanied by Miss Betty Nielsen, attended a luncheon program at Trenton Y. W. C. A., April 22. The girls included: B. Carter, J. Purcell, G. Wiley, M. Neeld, B. Bachman, B. Brookes, A. Wolfe, M. H. Stryker, P. Flynn, and C. Brockelbank. Miss Katharine McBride, president of Bryn Mawr College, spoke on "Education: Democracy's Underpinning."

district on Sunday, and that they were now more familiar with some of the school building problems. He added that the plans for the new high school have been approved by the state and that advertisement for bids will probably be done tomorrow.

Only one bid was received for the removal of a dwelling from the proposed high school grounds. The bid of $400 by Chester H. Kellett, who is currently living in the structure, was accepted by the board. Mr. Kellett has until May 17th to move his building. Another problem facing the board was that of the summer cottages also located upon the new school site. It was decided not to renew any contracts with the cottagers, and they will be requested to remove the buildings by Oct. 1st of this year.

The contracts of six elementary school teachers were accepted by the board. They were Miss Sydelles Friedland, Miss Helen Cobourn, Edward D. Watson, Joseph Botzer, Miss Jean Reeder, and Mrs. Jeanette Reinbrecht, Jr. A junior high school English teacher, Nancy C. Schneider, was hired by the board.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, both teachers, tendered their resignations, as they have made application to and were hired by the Pennsbury district. One of the prime reasons for their change, besides higher wages, was that they are moving to that area and will be closer to school there. Miss Baxter stated that she would never try to stop teachers from bettering themselves.

The loss of the Browns stirred up some discussion of teacher pay in this area. President Paul stated that he felt that it was his duty to discuss this matter at the Bucks County School Board Members Association meeting to be held on April 30th. Kenneth Comly, of the school board, stated: "Medill Bair (Regional Superintendent of the Pennsbury Schools) has gone on record as saying that he will go out and outbid us for any teacher that he wants." It was pointed out at the meeting that a teacher is coming to the Neshaminy District next year from Pennsbury. The seriousness of a possible bidding war between school districts was not minimized, but no hysterical charges or losses of temper accompanied the discussion.

Medill Bair, who was contacted last evening for an expression of opinion on the matter, stated: "It is our policy, and it is my duty, to hire the best teachers possible for our children. Pennsbury has always paid better salaries and offered better working conditions. However, we do not go out and recruit teachers away from neighboring districts. We take them only if they make application to us. On the other hand, we are delighted when a teacher leaves us for another district, when the teacher is able to secure professional advancement beyond what we were able to offer them."

A senior class group of 45 students left this morning for the annual trip to Washington. There are 59 students in the senior class. On the recommendation of Dr. Heckman and at the request of the teachers, the board voted to abolish the trip in the school year 1953-1954. The reasons given for the abolishment were that the classes are growing larger and thus harder to chaperon. The teachers do not wish to be given such a large responsibility.

It was decided that teachers should be invited to the preliminary part of the regular school board meetings, to present the areas of instruction that they are familiar with, for the enlightenment of the board.

The next regular meeting will be held on the 27th of May.

MERCURY BEATS ALL COMERS IN MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

3 WINS IN 3 YEARS!

GRUELING
1,415-MILE
TEST

What a test to prove Mercury's superiority! This year's Mobilgas Economy Run covers a 1,415-mile course from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, Idaho. This longest and toughest test extends from below sea level in sweltering Death Valley to 8,010 feet in Arizona mountains. Mercury outperformed all others and won both the grand Sweepstakes prize and first place Class C trophy.

1952's challenger wins Grand Sweepstakes Prize against all entries!

Mercury's done it again... captured the coveted grand prize in this "world series" for automobiles.

And this isn't the first time! Just look at the record: three out of three times winner in its price class; two out of three times Sweepstakes winner against all cars in every class!

The Mobilgas Economy Run is a punishing, 1,415-mile run open to all cars of every make. Unlike old-time stock-car classics, it tests on-the-road economy rather than speed.

Every car is a stock car, selected at random by the A.A.A. To assure an equal chance for all, regardless of size and weight, ton-miles-per-gallon performance determines the winner.

The results are now in the record book. A 1952 Mercury Monterey Special Custom Sedan with optional overdrive swept the field with a 59.7188 ton-miles-per-gallon mark, averaging 25.4093 miles per gallon. And the engine that did it is Mercury's famous V-8.

That's something to think about when you buy a new car.

Right now, in our showroom, is a 1952 Mercury similar to the one that won this official, impartial test. Why not stop around and give it a try? No obligation, of course.

*Ton-miles-per-gallon equals the car weight (with passengers), multiplied by miles traveled, divided by gallons of gasoline used.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. Anthony A. Marinacci
Pastor Bristol Christian Church
(Pentecostal)

For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. — Rom. 6:23.

Until we are willing to personally take into consideration the fact of the fall and the fact of our own sin, we can never find the truth of God unto our own salvation. Until a man confesses his sin to God, and realizes his need of the Savior, he cannot begin to live in the truth and blessing of God. It is man's refusal to admit his sin and to come to the Cross which keeps him from accepting the Savior.

Sin is in the world. Sin is in our hearts. Sin will ruin and damn us for eternity unless we face it, realize it, confess it, and give God an opportunity to do something about it for us in Jesus Christ, the Savior.

Mock Hearing Proves Enjoyable for 'Squires'

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 23—A mock assault and battery criminal case hearing caused much merriment for members of Bucks Co. Magistrates' association, here, on Thursday evening.

Richard A. Hopkins served as justice of the peace, which post he holds in Hulmeville. Constable C. Clifford Beck, Doylestown, was the complainant, and Englebert Smith, Bensalem township constable, was the "constable" in the case. Justice of the Peace M. M. Lawrence, Bristol, was the defendant in the case. Justice of the Peace Fred L. Bickel, Warminster, presided at the meeting and Secretary L. Elizabeth Jones reported a membership of 14 members of the minor judiciary and five associate members who are constables.

Delegates to the State Magistrates' convention in Atlantic City, N. J., June 29 to July 1, are Richard A. Hopkins, Hulmeville; Walter Scheetz, Riegelsville; Ludwig A. Petzer, Warwick, and Fred L. Bickel.

Plans for the 20th anniversary, which will be a "ladies' night" and minor judiciary training school graduation ceremony, will take place at Forest Lodge, Veterans of Foreign Wars, north of Sellersville, May 15.

Justice of the Peace L. Elizabeth Jones, Jamison, who is the instructor in the criminal law procedure training school classes, reported the final class will be held April 29.

Thirty-five "squires" attended the meeting and they discussed the problem of out-of-state trucks which do not have flaps on the wheels and what their jurisdiction is. The Penna. State Police have not handed out any official ruling on the matter.

Reading Difficulties Discussed at Newtown

NEWTOWN, Apr. 23—Morton Botel, reading specialist and consultant of Bucks Co. Schools, was introduced by program chairman William Kershaw, at a meeting of Newtown Parent-Teacher Association, Monday evening, in Council Rock auditorium.

Mr. Botel's subject was "Reading Difficulties—Elementary and Secondary." "Many factors enter into the cause of reading difficulties over which the school and the teacher has no jurisdiction," said Mr. Botel. "These disturbances must be eliminated before the child can overcome his disability. Emotional disturbances, social problems, poor vision which has not been discovered by the parents, poor hearing, poor nutrition, fatigue, too much television, all enter into the picture," was stated.

Many children are not ready, it was stated, when allowed by law to enter school, if they will be six years of age by Jan. 31st of the term. Statistics show that a child is not normally ready for reading until 6½ years of age. He should not be forced to do what he is not physically able to do in this respect.

"Help at home in the reading of jingles and nursery rhymes is invaluable," said Mr. Botel, "and the children's programs on television enable the child to know much of current events and places which he sees there and then can associate with his reading when he enters school."

In the absence of George Ghebeles, president, Mr. Kershaw presided at the business session. It was voted to give $10 to Council Rock Health Council, and $25 to the ambulance fund.

Mrs. Clarence Krewson was appointed to represent PTA on the board of directors of the Youth Center for a three-year term.

Mrs. Walter Scully, representative from the PTA to Area 5 dinner at Richboro, reported on the speakers.

Charles W. Swartz, chairman of the nominating committee, reported in slate of officers for the two PTA's which will be organized next school term.

Norman W. Kratz, supervising principal, reminded the group of several dates—Schoolmen's Week this week, school being closed Thursday and Friday, at University of Pennsylvania, Phila.; Friday evening, a safety meeting in the high school auditorium; May 2nd, music festival; May 9th, school fair; May 16th, junior "prom."
